Know where you are on nature.com at anytime with the "crumb trail" along the top navigation bar.

The screenshot shows the top navigation bar of the Nature.com website. It includes a breadcrumb trail: "nature > volumes > volume 572 > issue 7778". The main navigation bar features the "nature" logo, a "MENU" button, a "Subscribe" button, and search and account icons. Below the navigation bar is a "Search Nature" search bar with a dropdown menu for "All Subjects". The main content area is titled "Latest Research" and displays a grid of article cards. Each card includes the article title, date, authors, and a "show more" link. The articles shown are: "Antarctic offshore polynyas linked to Southern Hemisphere climate anomalies", "Off-target RNA mutation induced by DNA base editing and its elimination by mutagenesis", "Heterochromatin drives compartmentalization of inverted and conventional nuclei", "Magnetism in cold subducting slabs at mantle transition zone depths", "Hypersonic Bose-Einstein condensates in accelerator rings", "Group 3 innate lymphoid cells mediate early protective immunity against tuberculosis", "Predator-induced collapse of niche structure and species coexistence", "Palaeo-Eskimo genetic ancestry and the peopling of Chukotka and North America", and "Mating preferences of selfish sex chromosomes". A "More Latest Research" button is located at the bottom of the grid.

Trending

Today's most popular articles that are being shared, liked and talked about online.

Altmetric tracks article citations, shares on social platforms, mentions in blogs and news outlets.

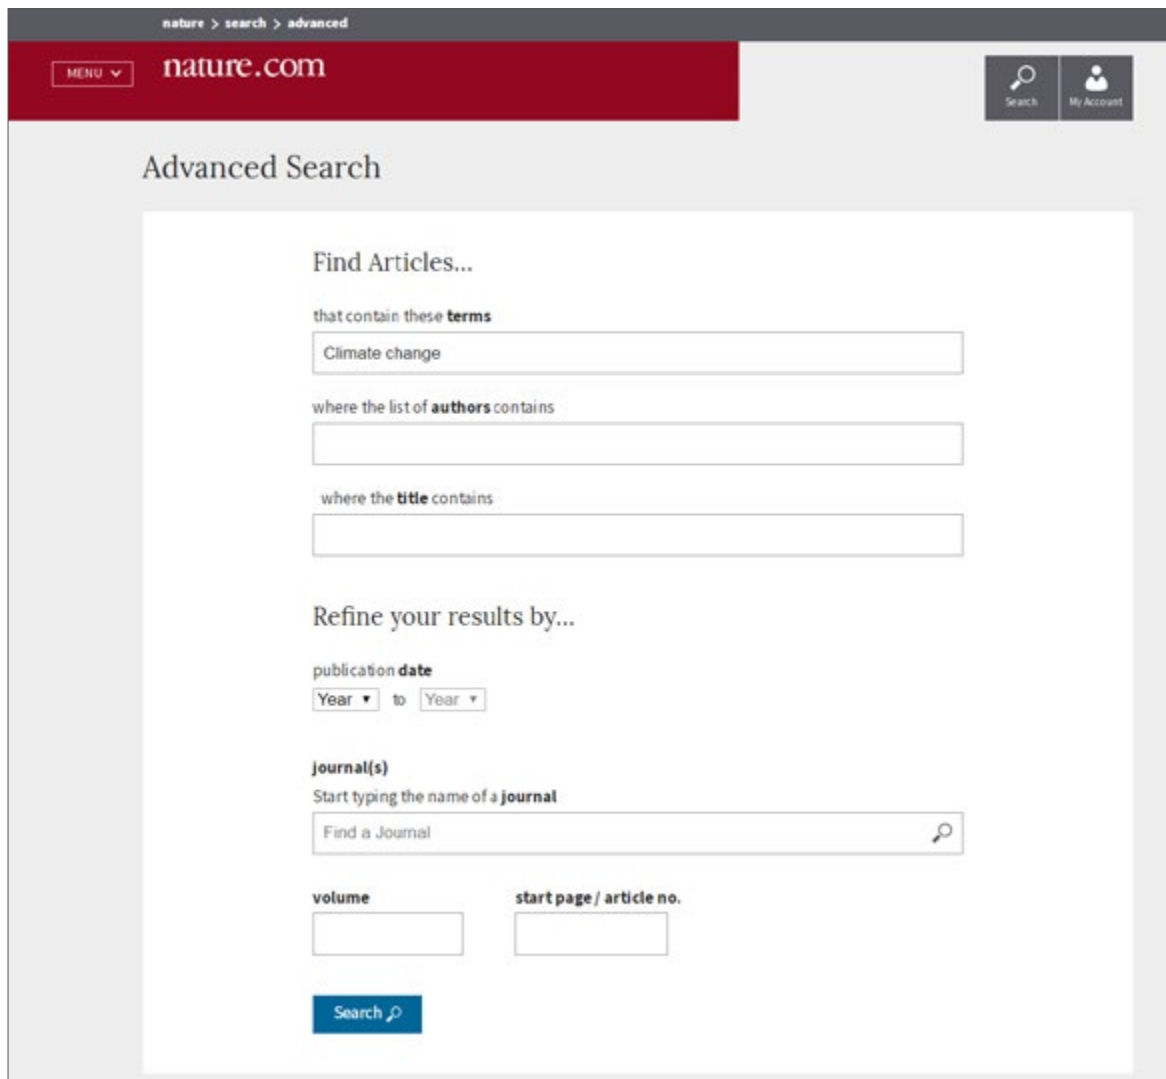

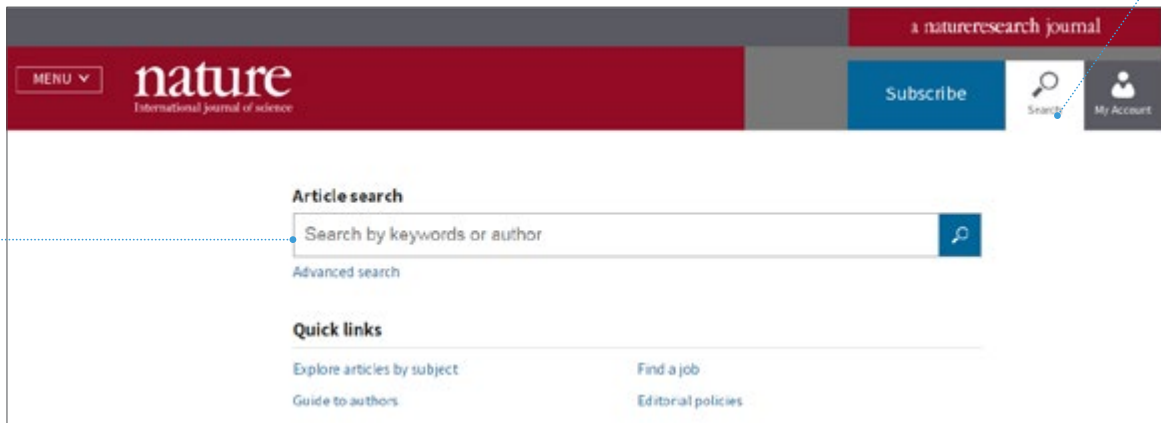

The screenshot shows the "Trending" section of the Nature.com website. It features four article cards, each with a circular Altmetric score icon and the article title. The articles are: "Mapping human microbiome drug metabolism by gut bacteria and their genes" (score 560), "The population history of northeastern Siberia since the Pleistocene" (score 436), "To catch and reverse a quantum jump mid-flight" (score 436), and "Gene edits to 'CRISPR babies' might have shortened their life expectancy" (score 344).
